"BRITISH" STEN MK II SUBMACHINE GUN

The STEN (or Sten gun) was a British 9 mm submachine guns used extensively by British and Commonwealth forces throughout World War II and the Korean War. They were notable for having a simple design and very low production. The Sten was a blowback-operated submachine gun firing from an open bolt with a fixed firing pin on the face of the bolt. Denix has done a fantastic job in replicating the working bolt action.

FAMOUS U.S. WWII INFANTRY RIFLE

This is a non-firing replica of the world famous U.S. M1 infantry rifle. This trustworthy and powerful rifle made a name for itself in the hands of U.S. soldiers and Marines throughout World War II, but especially on the beaches of the Island Hopping Campaigns of the Pacific. This is one of our best replicas yet. The slide works, the trigger works, and it's heavy, just like in the old days. Clip is not functional. Made with hard wood stocks and sturdy metal (zinc), functional parts, this is a premier collector's replica. Perfect for your historical display in your home or office.

KENTUCKY LONG RIFLE

Originally designed and built in Pennsylvania in the late 1700s. These rifles were popular from the Revolutionary War to well into the 19th century. They played an integral role in the early western expansion and are most often associated with Daniel Boone and Davy Crockett. The Kentucky rifle was one of the first to feature a "rifled" bore which made it extremely accurate for its time.

CA CLASSICS M1866 REPEATING RIFLE

Known to all as "The Gun that Won the West", the M1866 repeating rifle played a major role in the hands of Western settlers. Famous for its rugged construction and ability to fire a number of shots before having to reload, the "repeating rifle" became hugely popular. The CA Classics M1866 Repeating Rifle has historically accurate details, working lever action, polished nickel finish, and a wooden stock and foregrip.
